

DUB MAGAZINE FEATURES WHEEL SAFE IN PRODUCT REVIEW AND INSTALLATION

Power Lock International is pleased to announce that DUB Magazine featured the Wheel Safe wireless security system for custom rims in an article that included a step by step installation of the Wheel Safe product.

As pointed out in the article, “However, because of their value, those dubs are a potential target for thieves.” By way of example, Wheel Safe was installed on a Hummer for the article that had a set of five 30-inch TIS wheels and Pirelli Scorpion Zero tires that costs $25,000.00.

We at Power Lock are very honored that a company of DUB’s caliber choose Wheel Safe to be included in their magazine.

DUB Magazine (www.dubmagazine.ccom) is the authoritative voice of the urban automotive universe, and the lifestyle it has given rise to. The original “celebrity driven vehicle” publication, DUB magazine’s foresightful, tell-it-like-it-is approach to what is hot and what is not has demonstrated the authenticity necessary to earn it the title “official voice of the urban youth market” by its readers and the credibility to be considered the only real source for future trends in the urban automotive market by industry professionals and taste-makers alike.

Here's how the hub sensor looks in place.

The (optional) spare tire sensor was then attached to the wheel mount.

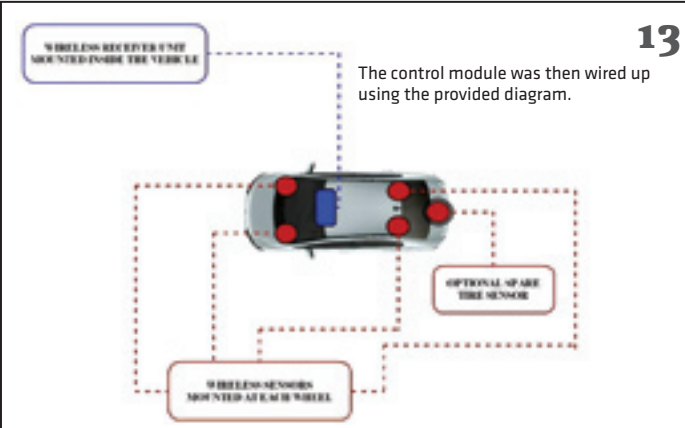

11

Because of the spare tire mounting depth, a small section of the cap sensor extension tube had to be used.

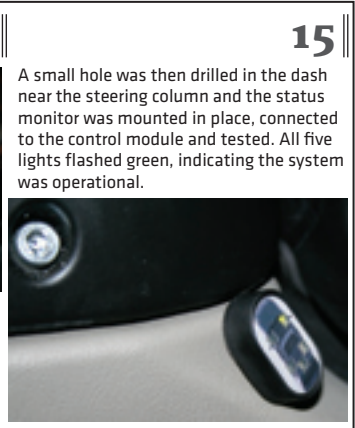

12

The cap sensor was then attached and secured with silicone.

14

The control module was then mounted up under the dash.

A small hole was then drilled in the dash near the steering column and the status monitor was mounted in place, connected to the control module and tested. All five lights flashed green, indicating the system was operational.
